

Keep Your Status

Your Status is as Sovereign once you become of age; a living breathing Man or Woman. Self-governing and having Supreme Authority.

As we are all Sovereign, and have equal status, we need to accept titles within a group or structure, and give authority to those with higher titles to tell us what to do.

The Legal System will try and lower your status so you lose your rights, and are coerced into accepting contracts you need not agree to.

Hierarchy

This is done by creating a Hierarchy and placing you at the bottom.

The Greek word Arch means rule.

Hierarchy: A combination of the Greek word Hier, meaning “Sacred” and the word Arch meaning “Ruler”; Hierarchy, with the earliest sense means “system of order of angels and heavenly beings.”

From 17th century Hierarchy means a system of “Rulers”, with varying rank and status.

Monarchy: Monos is a Greek word meaning “alone” and Uni is from Latin meaning “one”. Mono is derived from these words, and hence Monarchy means “One Ruler”.

Anarchy: Two words from the Greek language, An meaning “without”, and the Archos meaning “Chief” or “Ruler”; combination of these words means “Without Ruler”.

Blacks Law

Before we go into Legal Titles we need to refer to Black's Law. This dictionary details the legal definition of words and titles.

Legal Title

Removal of your status is done to you by way of sleight of hand, by making you accept a Legal Title and all the legislation that applies to it.

Changing your status makes you agree to waive all your rights in exchange for benefits and privileges. However these so called benefits are nothing of the sort.

Privileges: means asking permission to have your freedom back.

Benefits: mean you now have to pay any charges or bills, or even go to prison.

The following are legal terms, and if you accept them you have been moved out of a Court of Law and into a Legal Court or a court of legislation; you have lost your sovereign status.

Note: Anything written in all caps letters refers to Dog Latin, Glossa or ASL meaning your name in all caps letters makes reference to your dead entity, or corporate fiction.

Person

The word person comes from the Latin word Persona, meaning: human being, person, personage; a part in a drama, assumed character.

This originates from a mask, or false face, that covered the whole head, which was worn by the actors in Roman theatre.

The word Person today is making reference to your Legal Identity, and not you as a sovereign. If you accept this title then you are now within the Legal World or System, with the lowest status within an administrative court.

The meaning of the word Person includes Natural Person, Firm, Co-partnership, Association, Limited Liability Company or Corporation.

Civil Society

Civil means "Roman", which refers to Roman Law, which in turn actually refers to legislation and not law.

Meaning a Civil Society is a group of people who have unknowingly agreed to be part of, and a member of, a society that is controlled by Roman legislation.

The origin of modern day Equity Law is England.

The origin of modern day Legislation is Rome.

Taxpayer

Although this term many seem simple, i.e. "a person who pays taxes" we need to understand that only a person can pay taxes, but not a living breathing man or woman.

Therefore if you accept this title, you have agreed to become a person, and therefore you have become taxable.

Citizen

To understand the meaning of Citizen, we must first address the word State.

Note: the word State is referring to your state of mind. Your state of mind has to be controlled to accept the legal fiction of government.

A State is a legal corporation, set within a nation or territory, from which a political community controlled by a government reside. In basic terminology it is a business.

A citizen is a person who owes allegiance to the State, and is entitled to "rights", privileges and "protection".

Meaning that a citizen is an employee of the business called "The State", and as an employee you have traded your freedom and rights, for privileges.

Your status is now at the lowest level.

Citizen Passport

Your passport is written in all caps, meaning it is referring to your legal fiction. The British Nationality Act 1948 redefined British Subject as Citizen of the United Kingdom, which is a corporation.

The word Passport is a combination of the word "Pass" and "Port" and refers to the allowance of your corporation to travel from port to port.

A stamp was issued when entering a different jurisdiction for your corporation to operate. You do not need a passport to travel.

Law Abiding Citizen

The question you should ask is "whose law?" If you don't ask this question and blindly agree, you will find that "Law" actually refers to Legislation, and citizen is an employee with the lowest status.

Member of Society

The word Member is referring to you as having Membership. Society refers to an organization or club formed for a particular purpose or activity.

If someone attempts to apply this title to you, you must ask "which society" and then ask yourself if you applied to become a member.

If you accept this title then you have accepted your legal identity and have agreed to be part of a society where your status is unknown. However your status shall be of the lowest level.

Resident

The most common understanding of this word is as follows: "the act or fact of dwelling in a place for some time".

However it also refers to the act or fact of living or regularly staying at or in some place for the discharge of a duty or the enjoyment of a benefit.

The word "duty" applies an obligation which is to follow and accept legislation, and benefit is the outcome of said obligation if not followed, which is usually a fine.

This becomes more apparent when referencing The Black's Law definition: "a tenant, who is obliged to reside on his lord's land." In short, a resident is without property rights. A Residence is not considered a fixed or permanent home.

Occupier

This title is often used in letters and unfounded notices sent to you in the mail. This is a legal term that implies occupier by virtue of a lawful contract, either express or implied, or even without any contract.

However if you have entered into a lawful contract then you will be notified by name, by the person you have the contract with, and not by the title of “occupier”.

Expressed contracts means intended contract requiring your consent.

Implied contracts are in fact implied service agreements, which attempt to enforce legal obligations to whoever accepts the title “occupier”.

Mr or Mrs

Applying the word Mister, which is commonly abbreviated to just Mr, is a title used before your surname or full name, and is used to address a man without a higher or honorary or professional title.

Note: your surname is not yours; it belongs to the Vatican and is derived from the word “Serf” and “name”, meaning “slave name”.

Mister is derived from the term Master. It should also be noted that the term “master” is often applied to, or used in addressing politely a boy, who has not come of age, and therefore cannot use any other title.

Mrs has the same standing as Mr, and comes from the word “Mistress” which is the counterpart of “Master”.

However, both titles are only making reference to your legal name, and have a status lower than most other, if not all other, titles within a “court of legislation”.

Accepting the title of Mr or Mrs enters you in the jurisdiction of “Mercantile law”, which is also known as commercial law or trade law.

This is the law dealing with persons, the corporate sense, and businesses engaged in commerce, which deals with both private law and “public legislation”.

Esquire

Esquire is a legal title of respect, and acknowledgement of a man with a higher social rank.

Historically Esquire refers to a young nobleman, who in training for knighthood, will act as an attendant to a knight.

In legal terms it moves the status of a person higher within an administrative court, often applied to a Lawyer, who is now above the Plaintiff but still lower than the Judge.

Subject

When you are referred to as a Subject you have become a person or thing that is being discussed, described, or dealt with regarding an issue.

You are also subject to all the rules, codes, regulations, etc. issued by your master.

Your status has been dropped to the lowest level, that of a person, and only refers to your legal identity.

Defendant

The definition of a Defendant is “an individual, company, or institution sued or accused in a court of law”.

However a company or institution are legal fictions, and only function within a court of legislation.

Any and all legal fictions are beneath any living breathing man or woman, or sovereign, so if you accept this title, you have accepted a legal fiction within a court of legislation, and not law.

Plaintiff

Similar to defendant, the term Plaintiff also refers to either a person or company, which makes a legal complaint in administrative or judicial court.

Both the word person and company refer to legal fictions and not a living breathing man or woman. The person has no rights.

An administrative court only deals with legislation.

Pro Se

This is a Latin term meaning “in one’s own behalf” This gives you the right to appear in a civil case in federal court as defined by statute 28 U.S.C § 1654 which is the right to represent yourself.

Although this may sound like it benefits you, it does not.

If you accept this title, you have now accepted statute 28 U.S.C § 1654, which pulls you out of your own court and into their controlled civil court or administrative court.

You have now agreed to represent yourself, however “yourself” is actually a legal name of a trust where you are only a trustee and the judge is beneficiary. You now have the same status as an attorney which is below that of the judge.

The judge is now above you, and has full standing and jurisdiction over you.

The scam behind this is to take your rights away from, turn them into privileges, and give them back to you as court given “rights”.

Honourable

This title is used for various government “officials”.

This makes reference to being one of principle and upstanding.

However if you accept this term being applied to someone within a court, you have just agreed that they are the beneficiary principle of a trust, and you are a trustee.

Furthermore they now up-stand above you, as your status has been reduce to one of under-standing.

Driver

The word Driver refers to a Person who drives a Vehicle, and is considered an act of commerce within the legal court.

The word vehicle refers to the thing used for “transporting people or goods”, which is a service.

Notice the reference to “person”, this is a legal fiction and refers to your legal identity only.

If you accept this title then you have lost your status and have agreed that you are an employee and “consent” to any inspection, and accept the consequences.

Driver Black’s Law Dictionary, 4th Ed. Revised 1968, p. 585: One employed in conducting or operating a coach, carriage, wagon, or other vehicle, with horses, mules, or other animals, or a bicycle, tricycle, or motor car, though not a street railroad car. A person actually doing driving, whether employed by owner to drive or driving his own vehicle. Wallace v. Woods, 340 Mo. 452, 102 S.W.2d 91, 97.

Parent

Parent originated from the Latin word Parere, meaning “to comply”, then Parent meaning “Bringing Forth” and then Parentem meaning “father or mother, ancestor”.

However the meaning of the word has changed over time, since the 17th century, and has become a legal title used in administrating and judicial courts, which deals with legislation.

In the 1660’s the word Parent was redefined as “be or act as a parent to” The key word here is act.

When you look up the legal description of Parent today, it says either “a person’s father or mother” or “a person who has children” and “be or acts as a parent to [a child]”.

You may note the use of the word Person within these definitions.

The deception is to get you to accept a legal title that has a status no greater than a legal fiction; you have been turned into a corporation, and your child is now owned by your legal fiction, which is owned by the state.

You have lost ownership of your children.

To understand this, think of the term “parent company”: A parent company is one which owns and controls other firms or companies, usually known as subsidiaries.

Ward of the State

Wardship is the name that is given to court proceedings where a child is made “property of the state”.

The court has claimed “guardianship” or custody over the child, which is often passed down to local governments or council, usually social service.

Note: It should be noted that a named living person has not claimed guardianship and therefore responsibility over the child.
