

THE HIDDEN WORKINGS OF COURT

Legal Courts

All courts within the legal system operate within ecclesiastical law, which operate as a bank accessing the Cestui Que Vie Trust.

The Post Office or Universal Postal Union is a United Nations agency for corporate international cooperation, which operates as a court, and has the highest jurisdiction within the legal system.

Note: all countries are corporations, meaning they exist on paper only, and are NOT related to the landmass we live upon.

The Universal Postal Union controls all post offices around the world and “port authorities”. In ages past, it was these “port authorities” that paid the judges sitting in all courts.

However, with the creation of modern foreign corporations, such as the United Nations, Interpol, and The World Bank, funding for all judges, members of parliament and government officials now comes from the IMF and are under their control.

Note: Ports are tax free; you are only “obligated” to pay tax when your “goods” enter the jurisdiction of a “country”.

It should also be noted that the “post office” is not the same as the “postal service”; these operate in two separate jurisdictions.

The judge operates within a “foreign vessel” in “dry dock”, meaning when you enter a courthouse, you have left your “country” and entered a “foreign vessel”, which is why many courts look like the deck of ancient sailing ships today.

Once you have “consented” to come on board this “foreign vessel”, you have moved from one jurisdiction to another, and as a result no “Constitution”, “Magna Carta”, “common law”, or even “corporate legislation”, will work for you in this court.

You are at the complete mercy, authority and power of the judge, without any form of law to protect you.

Court Paperwork

This court only operates within the “dead entities” of “legal fictions”, whereby everything must be written down. It is your bonded paperwork that is “the court”.

Endorsement meaning: the word endorsement means “agreement” or “approval”. By applying a seal or a stamp to a document, a “seal of approval” has been applied and the document is endorsed.

Note: from Ancient Rome, scrolls would be rolled up and sealed with a wax “endorsement”.

Today scrolls are no longer used and have been replaced with multiple pages, A4 in size. When using multiple pages in court, they must be “bonded” with either glue, stitching or rivets.

Note: the word “docu-ment” means “docket-mind”, meaning you have placed your “mind” onto a piece of paper or “vessel”, and have now “docked” your “vessel” at “court”, and have received a “docket-number”.

Also Note: The Vatican owns all ships and vessels; you are a “vessel” in these courts.

Your documents can now be placed in your case; legal-case refers to the brief-“case” you bring your paperwork to court in.

“Case” also means “let the priest hear your sins”.

Although the people who operate these courts often do not follow their own rules, it is usually the person with the strongest paperwork who will win. However, the language, syntax and dictionary should be declared before submitting to court.

Note: using mathematical-based “parse syntax grammar” or “quantum grammar” can stop misinterpretation.

Merchant Bank Court

These courts do not operate within the law, but within the legal system and are operating using commerce, or “Mercantile law”, or “law of the sea”.

For a court to operate using the law, meaning the use of a jury to determine the crime committed against a victim, then the correct term today would be “Court IN Law”, and not “Court OF Law”.

Within legalese, the word “of” means “without”, so a “Court of Law” would be a court WITHOUT law.

Note: the word “court” comes from the Latin word Courtio, which refers to a place to trade, buy and sell debts and bonds.

Disasteria: in ancient Athens a place of justice would be called the Disasteria, where people could present legal disputes in front of a jury of their peers. They were considered the “law courts”.

Today, everyone within the courtroom and “justice system” are working for the court or “Merchant bank” within this ecclesiastical jurisdiction; these include the following:

- Chief Justice
- Judge
- Magistrate
- Clerk of the court
- Prosecutor
- Barrister
- Solicitor
- Lawyer
- Attorney

- Judicial Officers

This includes the lawyer you have hired to represent you. This lawyer also works for the court and it is financially beneficial for them if you lose, regardless of how much you pay them.

Note: this is why some lawyers will take on cases “pro bono”, meaning they do not take a fee from their client, when in all reality they are making far more from their client’s trust fund.

They are in effect double dipping; they are being paid once by you, and then a second time by the court for you to lose.

The title “attorney” means “to turn one over”, or to hand someone over to the court to be prosecuted.

All these people who work for the ecclesiastical court, financially benefit from you losing your case; hence they are all working together against you.

Once hired, they will often sign paperwork on your behalf that will seal your fate, such as the “Case Management File” or “Memorandum of Consent”.

Representation

Hiring a solicitor, lawyer, barrister or attorney to represent you in court signifies you are “ward of the state” and that you are “lost at sea”, a “simpleton” unable to be heard, so you need someone else to manage your “Cestui Que Vie” trust for you.

This action alone shows everyone in court you do not know what is going on, so the deception and fraud can be carried out without your knowledge.

Remember, it is not you who is even being represented, but your legal fiction or corporation that is detailed in your birth certificate, or “birth” of your “corporation”.

Note: it is a Roman Maxim of Law that states; “For he who would be deceived – let him”.

Legal fiction

The legal fiction or corporation the court is trying to apply to you, does not belong to you, and is actually crown copyrighted.

Meaning, it would be fraud on your part to accept this legal fiction as yours. This can be used in court as a reason why you cannot acknowledge the name the court is using.

Courtroom

As mentioned before, these are not courts of law, but a place of business, operating within the legal world using corporate policy, acts and statutes.

Within this “courtroom” no law or fact will be tried in a court of law. Court of law is referring to “colour of law”.

When you enter a court room, a “constructed trust” is created. This trust resembles your name, but is in fact the name of your legal fiction.

You will be asked to give your name, and by doing so you have accepted this newly constructed trust.

This trust will have the following positions:

- Trustee.
- Executer.
- Beneficiary.
- Administrator.

Within this trust the Trustee is the owner, the Executer “executes” and creates the paperwork within this trust, and you are the Beneficiary.

It is the Executer who is responsible for any paperwork generated within this trust, and is liable for it.

Note: as Beneficiary, you are not liable for any penalties, fines or costs attributed to the trust, but can only benefit from the Cestui Que Vie trust.

Roles within the Court

The people working within the courtroom have functions within this trust and are as follows:

- Trustee – Clerk of the court.
- Executer – Prosecutor.
- Beneficiary – “The defendant”, or you.
- Administrator – The Judge or Magistrate.

Court Process

The Prosecutor or “executor” is the person who created the “writ” to have you summoned to court.

It is the Prosecutor who has the most to lose, because if you do not appear in court and accept the name, then the writ has failed and the Prosecutor is now liable for the cost of the writ.

This is why every Prosecutor must bring their cheque book to court, for if they should fail to convict you, they must pay the cost of the writ.

Note: although being “summoned” to court is an “offer” or “invitation”, if you choose not to attend court and do not notify the court of this, they will use tacit agreement, through your acquiescence, that you have agreed to the charges and have authorised the court to go ahead in your absence, where you will automatically be found guilty.

Once the “Clerk of the court” asks you for your name and you give it, not only does this complete the trust set up, but it also acknowledges you as the “Beneficiary”.

However, as “Beneficiary” all the profits or “credits” made from the trust go to you, with all the costs or “debt” being the burden of the “Prosecutor”.

So, the “Clerk of the court” will get you to exchange places with the “Prosecutor”, making you execute your own sentence within the trust, thereby making you liable for the penalties, charges and costs.

This is usually done by asking you “how do you plead?”, with either a “guilty” or “not-guilty” response meaning you have accepted the burden of the prosecutor.

Once a plea has been given, you have already lost.

Note: just the action of being charged is acceptance of your “guilt”. The “court-bank” has “charged” you, and you must pay in “gilts”.

Court Jurisdictions

This court operates in three separate jurisdictions as follows:

1. A bank: operating under Uniform Commercial Code and can issue fines only.
2. A maritime court: using Canon Law of the Church where you can go to prison.
3. A religious court: under Talmudic Law that can issue the death sentence.

Note: Talmudic Law originated from Jewish oral stories or “law”, and continued with the Talmud or “religious text”, and covers agricultural, ritual, civil, criminal, and Temple-related laws, using many legal opinions, often incorporating occasional stories.

Agricultural meaning: the word Agricultural is a combination of the Latin word “ager” or “agrī” meaning “field” and the word culture; hence a “culture” within a “field”, which avoids the word land.

The word “bench” means “bank” as this is where all the money handlers in Ancient Rome sat in the market. Over time “bank” also came to mean “the house of financial transactions” in French.

With the first jurisdiction being that of a bank, the judge sits at the bench and administers this bank.

If you have “pleaded guilty”, then you will often “confess your sins” and make or pay “penance” in front of the judge who is administering the bank.

The act of confession makes you the “accuser”, the “person accused” and the “witness”.

Note: during the Tribunal of the Holy Office or “Spanish Inquisition” 1478 to 1834, priests called Inquisitors used this method within the judicial institution to “convict” people of the “crime” heresy.

Heresy meaning: belief or opinion contrary to orthodox religious doctrine, namely that of the Catholic Church or Vatican.

This is how modern-day courts operate today. In simple terms, they have “monetised” sin.

When you are asked to make a “plea” of “guilty” or “not guilty”, the court is actually asking you if you will or will not pay.

The word “guilty” stems from the old English word “gylt”, meaning crime, sin, fault or fine, and is connected to the word “gilt”, which is a government bond, hence “are you going to pay the government bond?”

“Gylt” came from the word “Guild” which has Scandinavian roots, meaning “to make payment or tribute”, which is similar to the German word “gelt”, meaning “money”.

God-given Rights

Do not go to court and claim you have “God-given rights”, as the religious jurisdiction of this court worship different gods they control:

- Ba'al: taken from the Semitic word “baal” meaning “lord”, and often referred to as “The Lord” was the Pagan god of fertility, weather, rain, wind, lightning, seasons, war and sailors. Ba'al became one of the Seven Princes of Hell in Christian demonology.
- Moloch: Moloch or Molech, is the god of human sacrifice, with the practice of child sacrifice.
- Baphomet: a deity with a goat’s head, worshipped by the Knights Templar, which is half-human and half-animal, both male and female, representing both good and evil.

The temple or head church of this religious faith is called the Vatican, which is named after the Goddess “Vatika”.

The name “Vatican” is neither Latin nor Greek, and cannot be traced to the bible, but comes from an ancient language spoken by the Etruscan people 3000 years ago.

When someone died, the Etruscan people would bury their dead within a necropolis, which was protected by the goddess of the underworld Vatika, who would watch over the dead.

Upon death, the soul would meet a demon called Vanth, who would allow entry into the underworld.

Warrant

The word warrant comes from the old French word “guarant”, which means “safeguard” or “keep safe from danger”, which led to the old French word “warant” meaning “defender”, “surety”, “pledge” and “justifying evidence”.

The use of a warrant was not to safeguard the one being arrested, it was to protect or indemnify the king or queen issuing said warrant from being sued.

It was the individual who was being arrested that become the surety for the warrant, as the one being arrested had “self-incriminated” and therefore “authorised” the warrant on himself.

The way this works is through the creation of a “writ”, meaning a “religious rite”, which is written by a “scrivener” and issued by the “clerk”, meaning “cleric” of the church, to the king or queen.

Because everyone was now subject to the church for salvation, a person's "sin" or "indulgence" was their "request" for the "religious rite" to be scribed into parchment.

The "writ" was then endorsed or sealed by the monarch, to create the warrant for the arrest of the "sinner".

With the use of the warrant, you are brought to the "court" for your hearing, where you "confess" to your "sins", as described in the warrant.

If you are "found guilty", which you will inevitably will be as you just "confessed", you will be "sentenced" for your "crime", meaning penance, or pay the church and state for your "sins".

Penance means "punishment inflicted on oneself", so you "confess" and find yourself "guilty" and inflict the punishment upon yourself, which can even include imprisonment.

Prison

When a person "consents" to going to prison, a Certificate of Imprisonment is created, then securitised.

Meaning the holder of said certificate can now access the prisoner's Foreign Situs Trust, through the Cestui Que Vie trust.

The private natural person or "living breathing man or woman" has now become surety for the new bond that is created with the Certificate of Imprisonment.

This results in the private natural person now being placed in a "warehouse", as a resource to give surety to the bond, until the debt is discharged.

Sometimes the bond created exceeds the life expectancy of the prisoner; this is why prison terms can be over 100 years or more in America, so the bond continues to accrue interest payments long after the "human resource" has died.

Conflict of Interests

Only a sovereign can hold court, as they have the authority to do so and therefore have the right and ability to undertake the following:

- To make the law.
- To uphold the law.
- It is their jurisdiction.
- Ask questions.
- Elect the people to administrate their court.

When there are two sovereigns in dispute, the jury is the arbitrator of the law and facts, however for this to be carried out fairly and justly, both sovereigns must be of equal standing.

This means that no one within court, including the jury, judge and other staff can have a higher standing, or ever financially profit or benefit in any way from the outcome of any trial.

They must be impartial at all times; failure of this most basic law would result in treason being carried out against the sovereign, resulting in a long prison sentence for the perpetrator, or even death.

Punishment is so severe for this act of treason that all staff members within court are held accountable through oath to this effect.

For example: the judge swears an oath to be unbiased and must not favour either plaintiff.

However, in modern-day courts an individual's personal sovereignty and rights are stripped from them, with the entire court personnel financially benefiting immensely from every guilty verdict being concluded.

The Judge, Prosecutor, Lawyer and Clerk all work for the "state", or Crown Corporation, who is the owner of the Cestui Que Vie trust, meaning the court is not about law, but administration of a trust.

Within this trust, you are the beneficiary, with the positions of trustee and executor being that of others within the courtroom.

Note: the positions of trustee and executor hold liability, while the beneficiary does not.

Trust law states you cannot be trustee or executor while also being beneficiary, as this will cause a conflict with the trust.

Therefore, they all conspire against you to give up your position of beneficiary and accept the title of trustee, making you liable for all costs and charges.

This results in the individual who is summoned to this court becoming a slave.
